

Passage Comparison: Three Renderings

A translation and paraphrase comparison for the chapter workshop

Literal rendering

The first rendering follows the source order, keeping its repeated turns toward the street corner and its delayed noun phrase.

Readable rendering

The second rendering eases the syntax while preserving the question of who can occupy the shared circle implied by the linden image.

Analytical paraphrase

The third rendering names the rhetorical operation: the imagined writer converts a local scene into an invitation to listen before speaking.
