

Employee Monitoring Review Guidance

Guidance ID G-2026-08 | Version 1.0 | Internal working guidance | 2026-06-30

Use notice. This is an internally synthesized training document. Aurora Federation, Harbor State, Aster Legal, Matter Alpha, and every source cited here are fictional. It is not legal advice or a statement of current law.

Purpose

A privacy and labor-sensitive review for monitoring tools, audit logs, endpoint controls, and workplace analytics.

Scope and boundary

The DLP-managed laptop context is illustrative. Monitoring must not be expanded simply because a tool can technically capture more data.

Rule summary

Monitoring must have a specific legitimate workplace purpose, be proportionate to that purpose, use the least intrusive workable configuration, and be transparent except where a documented investigation exception applies.

Decision path

Step	Required action
1	Describe the measure Identify the business need, population, device or service, signals collected, and planned recipients.
2	Assess proportionality Compare the stated need with less intrusive controls, sampling, aggregation, and access restrictions.
3	Set safeguards Define notice, manager limits, investigator access, union or works-council consults where required, and deletion controls.
4	Authorize narrow use Privacy Legal records approved scope, duration, and review date before activation.

Operating controls

Escalation trigger

Escalate to Employment Counsel and Privacy Legal for covert monitoring, continuous location, content capture, performance scoring, or cross-border administrator access.

Recordkeeping

Keep the necessity assessment, notices, consultation record, access roster, configuration evidence, exceptions, and sunset review.

Roles and cadence

Business owner supplies complete facts and implements controls. Privacy Legal verifies the review path, decision rationale, and escalation. Records Management maintains retention evidence. Reassess on a material change, a new recipient or system, a control failure, or the scheduled annual review.
