

Macro Personalization Guide

Personalize approved replies so they remain accurate, human, and safe to send.

Audience	Support specialists and quality reviewers
Prerequisites	Approved macro library access and current customer context
Last reviewed	2026-08-04

Procedure

1. Choose a macro that matches the ticket stage: acknowledgement, workaround, update, or closure.
2. Replace bracketed fields with the customer-approved account and ticket facts.
3. Add one sentence that names the observed symptom or completed action.
4. Remove any optional paragraph that does not apply; never leave bracketed text.
5. Preview the reply, confirm links and update time, then send or save as draft.

Warnings

Warning: Macros accelerate communication but do not replace case review.

Warning: Do not include internal incident names, employee names, or recovery links in a macro response.

Escalation boundary

Escalate if the macro lacks a safe answer, the request concerns account recovery, or a customer asks for contractual commitments.

Synthetic example

Example: "We confirmed your export job is queued. We will update you by 15:00 JST." replaces generic wording without promising a resolution.

Internal operational guidance. Examples, names, IDs, and account details are synthetic.
